GREAT LOSS LIFE WHEN TYPHOON HITS HONG KONG

MANY BOATS GO TO BOTTOM IN FIERCE GALE—BRITISH SUB-MARINE LOST.

HONG KONG, Aug. 18—Great loss of life in the typhoon that struck the harbor here this morning is reported. The storm swept the waters into a seething menace that flung ships into their depths and tossed others into havens of safety.

Many Europeans are among the victims of the typhoon, and the British submarine L. 9, the steamship Ming Sang of British registry, and many others, sank in the harbor. All save three of their crews perished.

BOY SHERIFF IS VICTOR

YOUNG DEPUTY BRINGS IN HIS MAN FOLLOWING STIFF FIGHT

SPOKANE, August 17—Capture of an escaped inmate of the Chehalis, Wash., training school by a boy deputy sheriff, was recently reported.

The "sheriff," a member of the school's own law enforcement organization, recognized the fugitive here, collared him and landed him in the juvenile detention rooms of the city jail here after a stiff hand-to-hand combat.

OLD-TIME ALASKAN DENTIST LEAVING FOR THE STATES

DR. DAGGETT, POPULAR DENTAL
SURGEON, WILL LEAVE THE TERRITORY

Dr. Charles Daggett, old time resident of Seward, but recently conducting the Dental Clinic in Anchorage, arrived in Seward on Wednesday's train with Mrs. Daggett and children en route to the states, where he will establish dental offices.

Having disposed of his Anchorage interests, Mr. Daggett will go first to California and then to Seattle, before choosing a location. The Daggett family will stop off at Cordova for ten days, on his way south, where he is interested with Dr. M. L. Biggs in one of the finest dental offices in Alaska. Mr. and Mrs. Daggett were residents of Cordova for a number of years, having resided there before going to Anchorage.

Twenty years ago on the 28th of this month, Dr. Daggett landed at Seward, and where now are cement sidewalks and railroad tracks, was then dense woods. The Doctor grew up with Seward and is heavily interested in Seward really at the present day. He is of the opinion that in proportion with the growth of Alaska, so will be that of this town, and even the many setbacks, cannot keep the town from coming into its own.

Dr. Daggett graduated from the Ohio College of Dental Surgery. While practicing dentistry in Cincinnati, Dr. Daggett was also attending the Cincinnati Medical College, but health failing under the double strain, he came to Alaska, and was soon in full health again.

Dr. Daggett and family have a host of friends who regret their departure, but all feel that the doctor is moving for the best, and with his remarkable ability are sure that in a few years he will build up a business that could not be equalled in Alaska.

MOVING PICTURE MAN ON WAY TO STATES WITH PLAY

MANAGER GEO. EDWARD LEWIS
TAKING GREAT ALASKAN PLAY OUTSIDE

Mr. George Edward Lewis, Production manager of the Alaska Moving Picture Corporation, and Mrs. Lewis, Miss Gladys Johnston, the young star, and Raymond Johnston, chief camera man, arrived on last Wednesday's train. They will be joined tonight by Mr. Louis Moomaw, director, and the whole party will leave on the Steamship Alaska.

Mr. Lewis is taking with him the film of the great feature, "The Cheechakos," which the Corporation has been producing for the last five or six months. During the past thirty days the task of "cutting" the picture has been in progress, so that now only the cream of the great mass of film to pick from, is in the 16 reels that are being taken outside.

All during the filming of "The Cheechakos," those working with the Corporation, could see that something fine was being made, but it remained for this last cutting and connecting the parts together in story form, to show just how great and beautiful the feature was. The enthusiasm of those privileged few who have seen the 16 reels run, is unbounded, and the "smile that won't come off" is on all the Corporation officials' faces.

The 16 reels will be taken directly to Hollywood and there placed in the hands of the foremost experts for the final "cutting" and titling, and it is expected to be ready for the public about November 1st, in the shape of a great super-feature, 8 or 10 reels in length.

A great dream brought true by hard work, this is "The Cheechakos." Quite a few years ago Mr. Lewis got the idea that Alaska ought to be as good a country as any for movie work; he studied the possibilities as he traveled over the Territory. Nineteen months ago he started active work and has labored day and night to the present time to bring his dream into reality. By the soundness of his proposition Mr. Lewis soon interested influential men of the Territory. Among the first was Senator E. E. Chamberlin, an old friend, who was invaluable in explaining the proposed new undertaking to the people of the different towns. Then came the assistance of Mr. Wm. Whitteley, the first treasurer of the Corporation, and Senator L. V. Ray, Alaska's foremost lawyers, as Corporation Counsel. Captain Austin E. Lathrop probably the most successful business man in the Division, came next and was elected president, followed by Mr. Alex McDonald, the present treasurer.

All these men have been untiring in their efforts, knowing that they were working on a project of great value, both to the Corporation Stockholders and to Alaska in general.

The technical staff of the Corporation, headed by Mr. Moomaw, director and Mr. Johnston, camera man, have done great work which will prove its self on the screen.

The loyal support of the Corporation Stockholders here and elsewhere made the picture possible, and the officials claim they will not be disappointed by the returns on their investment and the fame and advertising value of the feature.

If there are no unexpected delays Captain Lathrop will have the finished picture up here to show in his theatres sometime in October or November, earlier than its presentation in the states.
